Everyone needs to join in vision for the city's future

By George Welch

ROBOTS driverless cars and virtual reality could become part of our everyday life in 30 years – but until Oxford realises its technological Utopia, the public has the power to shape the vision for the city in 2050

Businesses, schools, technology firms and residents have been encouraged to take part in a five-week consultation to help formulate a framework for Oxford as the council prepares for its largest period of growth in history

The city is expected to grow from 161,000 people today to 190 000 in the next 33 years – its population was 115 000 33 years ago.

Oxford City Council leader Bob Price said, "Experts are predicting huge changes to the way we live, work and travel. driverless cars, robots in the home and augmented high street are just some ideas."

Describing the vision as a 'statement of intent', the Labour leader added, "We are the guardians of Oxford today, and handing over 'that sweet city with her dreaming spires' is a weighty responsibility."

The consultation, which launched on Monday and will explore the impact of new technologies on the city's development, asks people for their thoughts based on five key themes

The first theme this week has been on work and learning, with following weeks to focus on people and community; built and natural environment; transport and connectivity and culture and leisure

With the average age of Oxford being 29.9 years – the youngest median age in England and Wales – more than half the city's population in 2050 will not yet have been born.

Cllr Price said, "Oxford is important. It is the home of the world's greatest thinkers the world's greatest writers and the world's future leaders Oxford has a seat at the world's table

"But to keep us there tomorrow we need to work together today We want you – residents, businesses, universities – to take part in the creation of this vision statement so everyone can use it as a marker to drive towards."

Oxford University research will underpin many of the changes in the next 30 years Dr Phil Clare said "To maintain our position as a globally leading university we must be part of a successful and sustainable city and we will continue to work with the city council to play an active role in this process."

Pallets go from firewood to fireworks

THIS impressive collection of pallets literally went up in smoke on Saturday as part of Oxford Round Table's 50th annual fireworks extravaganza

The organisation celebrated with a spectacular fireworks display and a mega 50-foot tall bonfire at South Park, Headington Hill

The display was provided by Kimbolton Fireworks which was responsible for the opening and closing ceremony at the London Olympic Games in 2012.

There was also a line-up of live music and local acts and presenters as well as a food village and a fun fair

Organiser Chris Langston said, "This annual fireworks event has grown bigger and better every year and we are extremely grateful to the community and businesses who have made it such a success over that time Their support helps us to give more to local charities."

Oxford Round Table has raised more than £1million for charitable causes since 1967

Nurses from India to help fill vacant posts in county

By Samantha McGregor

HOSPITALS in Oxfordshire are turning to nurses in India to fill vacant posts.

Oxford University Hospitals NHS Foundation Trust (OUH) confirmed it had made 175 conditional job offers to nurses from India.

They were hired after a team from Oxford staged a week long recruitment drive in Delhi, Mumbai and Cochin in October, when qualified nurses wishing to pursue a career in the UK were interviewed.

It comes after the Nursing and Midwifery Council, NMC, released figures showing "for the first time" there were more nurses and midwives leaving the register than joining it.

It also said the number joining the register from the EU had "dropped dramatically from 10,178 last year to 1,107 this year a fall of 89 per cent".

OUH said the nurses were currently working through the initial stages of their NMC applications and English language assessments, which need to be completed before they arrive in early 2018.

Andrew Carter an associate chief nurse who led the recruitment campaign in India, said: "The recruitment drive was a great success and we were able to make conditional job offers to 175 of the candidates we interviewed.

"We are very pleased to have found so many talented nurses who have expressed an interest in working at OUH.

"We are hopeful as many of those as possible will come on board, however, factors such as visa applications and the NMC English language test may result in a lesser number."

The trust said it currently had about 70 nursing vacancies and had been forced to close beds due to staff shortages.

Nurses recruited from Spain and Ireland are due to start in the next few months.

In order to ensure nursing posts are filled, the trust is planning a second overseas recruitment drive this time in the Philippines in December.

Mr Carter added: "It is more important than ever before to search for talent both locally and further afield, ensuring that we have the highest possible calibre of staff to deliver excellent care to our patients.

"We are also making efforts to recruit the next generation of nurses by working closely with students at Oxford Brookes University who are approaching the end of their nursing studies."

'Extreme cruelty' as hamster burnt with cigarette

THE RSPCA is appealing for information after a hamster was found with "shocking injuries".

The RSPCA said the creature was found by a member of the public with cigarette burns to both back legs a chicken bone wedged in one cheek pouch and earth and stones in the other.

The hamster which was found in Holland Road Witney on Monday last week, has since died from its injuries.

RSPCA Inspector Andy Eddy said: "It is horrendous to think that someone injured the hamster deliberately.

"There is simply no excuse for such extreme cruelty.

"Sadly the hamster died because of the severity of his injuries but we are very grateful to the member of the public who tried to save him by rushing him to a vet and thank them for their help and support."

Inspector Eddy is now appealing for anyone with any information about "how the rodent came to be abandoned with such shocking injuries".

He added: "We would like to hear from anyone who can shed any light on what happened or how the hamster came to be dumped in such a terrible state."

Anyone with information should call 0300 123 8018.

Flytipper struck twice in one day

A MAN has been jailed after fly-tipping twice on the same day.

Paul John Tidbury 29 of Burchell Road, Newbury was sentenced to eight weeks in prison after pleading guilty to two offences of breaching the Environment Protection Act 1990 at Oxford Magistrates' Court on Friday.

He was also ordered to pay a total of £315.

The District Judge heard how, on October 4 2016 a police community support officer witnessed Mr Tidbury dumping building sand in East Challow at the site of the former Challow Country Club.

The vehicle used to dump the rubbish, a white transit van, was stopped the same day in Wantage.

Police then received a report of a fly tip off Bury Lane near Chilton.

This time the incident had been captured on CCTV.

The footage showed the same van being used to dump similar rubbish.

This was the first time that someone has been jailed for fly-tipping in the Vale of White Horse.

Cllr Elaine Ware, cabinet member for environmental health at the Vale said: "Fly tipping is a serious crime which costs significant public money to clean up and investigate."

More Santas are needed to join this year's run around Oxford city centre

Trainers, check; red suit, check; beard, check...

SANTA arrived a bit earlier than expected in Oxford this year.

Supporters of Oxfordshire-based Helen & Douglas House dressed up as loveable Father Christmas over the weekend to promote the Santas on the Run event on December 10.

Dozens of Santas of all ages took part in the festive promotion to raise funds ahead of the event and get more people to sign up.

The charity and hospice works to support and care for children and young adults suffering from terminal illnesses.

The Oxford Paper is among the sponsors for this year's event along with Jack FM, Hawkwell House Oxford and Benito's Hat.

Stay warm and well in winter, advice on offer

PEOPLE concerned about keeping warm as temperatures fall can now get advice and financial help

A free helpline, operated by the Better Housing Better Health (BHBH) scheme, will provide any Oxford resident with a single point of contact for services, advice and grants in order to stay warm and well in their homes

People who could be at greater risk of the impacts of cold homes include those who are aged over 60 children under five and pregnant mothers.

People with respiratory disease or those on a low income or long-term debt could also be at risk.

Councillor Marie Tidball, board member for young people schools and public health said. "Nobody should be spending their time in cold homes this winter

"We need everyone in Oxford to be aware of the Better Housing Better Health helpline and contact it if they or anyone they know can benefit from its services It is important to prevent deaths and illnesses in Oxfordshire that result from people unable to heat their homes properly"

Residents who call the helpline will have their needs assessed over the phone and, where eligible can be referred to Expert Energy Advice, small repairs services as well as grants and funding.

Last year there were 24,300 excess winter deaths across the UK, 15 per cent higher than in non-winter months according to figures from the Office of National Statistics

Many to benefit from rise to minimum wage in city

Oxford University Labour Club staged a banner drop in support of the Oxford Living Wage Campaign ahead of the decision being made

By Eva Astreinidou

MANY Oxford workers could be set for an inflation beating pay rise to take the minimum rate per hour to at least £9 89 after a decision to increase the living wage in the city

Around 100 campaigners attended a rally in Oxford Town Hall on Monday night to welcome the news and stress the importance of fair pay

Following the announcement, Oxford City Council and some businesses will be signing up to the improved rate, which has risen from £9 26 per hour The national wage requirement is £7 50 an hour

Speaking after the meeting Holywell councillor Dan Iley Williamson said. "It is pretty unique for a place outside London to have a rate like that so I am very pleased that it has been pushed through."

The new Oxford living wage rate will apply to the city council catchment area from April 2018

Employers are legally bound to pay workers over 25 years of age the national minimum wage, but employers in Oxford can now sign up to the new increased rate voluntarily

The move is in response to escalating living expenses in the city

The increase has been welcomed with many saying it will allow workers to 'live with dignity

Councillor Susan Brown deputy leader of Oxford City Council and board member for customer and corporate services, said. "[The wage increase] helps the council by improving staff motivation, customer service and by making it easier for us to retain quality staff. We encourage other employers in Oxford to adopt the Oxford living wage."

The council also announced it will require all contractors with contracts over £100-000 to pay the Oxford living wage to their staff and subcontractors.

The living wage is updated countrywide every October by the Living Wage Foundation.

The foundation sets two rates, one for London and one for the rest of the country The London minimum wage is now set at £10.20 per hour

Gang attack girl in new Westgate

A GANG of teenage girls attacked a 16-year old at the new Westgate shopping centre leaving her with head injuries

The girl was walking through the centre when she was approached by 10 girls near the Tommy Hilfiger outlet.

The group surrounded her and she was punched in the face, kicked and pulled to the ground.

The victim sustained head injuries but did not require hospital treatment.

Police are appealing for witnesses following the incident that happened at around 9pm on October 31

One of the girls is white, aged about 16 and is 5ft 5ins tall with long, slightly curly dark hair She was wearing a black jacket and black jeans Another offender was a white girl aged about 16. She is about 5ft 2ins tall with a medium build and long, straight hair

Investigating officer PC Ben Branch, based at Cowley police station, said: "I would like to speak to anyone who witnessed this incident or who has information relating to it

"I believe that a member of the public may have helped the victim and walked her to a restaurant in George Street after the incident so I would like to speak to this person as they could have important details about the offence."

Contact police on 101 quoting the reference number 43170324171 if you have any information.

Queen Street bus ban rejected – for now

A BID to ban buses from Queen Street in Oxford has been turned down.

The request was submitted due to safety concerns about more people using the street following the opening of the Westgate Oxford shopping centre.

But the Department for Transport has declined Oxfordshire County Council's request due to a lack of evidence.

The council could submit another bid, but more data will have to be gathered by 2018

One of the main entrances to the new shopping centre is on Queen Street, which is closed to cars but used by buses and taxis.

The closure request was referred to the Transport Secretary Chris Grayling in July after two bus operators Stagecoach and the Oxford Bus Company objected.

Oxford Bus Company said the closure would lead to congestion and pollution.

Oxfordshire county council spokesperson Paul South said it is 'doubtful' that monitoring for more data will start before February 2018, and that buses are likely to be there for at least another six months

He said. "We need to have some discussion with Westgate, the city council and the bus operators about the timing and content of the monitoring. We don t want to get into a position where we are arguing over the validity of the baseline data as that won t help move the Queen Street debate forward."

Phil Southall, managing director of Oxford Bus Company said. "It is business as usual in Queen Street and we support the plans for detailed monitoring and will continue to liaise closely with key stakeholders on this

"Our drivers are highly trained and experienced in driving in multiple environments and situations."

A consultation on plans to fully pedestrianise the busy shopping street in Oxford city centre was launched in May to June 2016.

InBrief

Drink driver banned

A DRINK driver has been handed a £4,000 fine and an 18-month driving ban after getting behind the wheel when more than twice over the limit.

Dr Oliver Brown, 28, of Benson Road Oxford, was seen speeding along the eastern bypass of Oxford at around 2 20am on May 21

When police officers stopped him on Garsington Road he smelled strongly of alcohol.

Brown subsequently failed a roadside breath test and was arrested.

While in custody he failed an evidential breath test which showed him to be more than double the limit, recording a reading of 72mg in 100ml of breath – the limit is 35mg.

Brown was found guilty at Oxford Magistrates Court on October 30 following a one day trial. He was sentenced on the same day

A new chapter

OXFORD S central library will open the doors to its permanent home for the first time on December 18

The temporary base at Oxford Castle will close on November 17 as staff prepare to launch the new facility which forms part of the revamped Westgate Centre

The move means the city will be without a central library for four weeks while stock is transferred.

Air pollution in city is 'ever more deadly'

By George Welch

THE battle against 'freighting' air pollution in Oxford intensified last week after it was revealed the city is breaching limits for tiny sooty particles in the air caused by cars.

The World Health Organisation says the level of particles smaller than 2 5 microns which are linked to heart disease Alzheimer s, and premature death, should not exceed 10 micrograms per cubic metre of air – in Oxford it found the level to be at 14.

Green MEP for the South East Keith Taylor hit out at the city and county councils for letting the particulates breach the limit at a public meeting at the Town Hall.

While Mr Taylor has published a report detailing the impact of air pollution from road vehicles on Oxford residents, the councils have set up an extra working group to cut NO2 in St Clements, Oxford s most-polluted street which would not be covered by the proposed Zero Emission Zone

Mr Taylor said: "Air pollution in the UK is a terrifying and invisible killer and, in Oxford as in many other places it's only getting ever more deadly

"Oxford is one of the 15 most polluted cities in the UK and the toxic air is having hugely negative health impacts on the city's residents

"[It s] not only a public health emergency, it s a problem that reflects wider inequality issues the city, county and national leadership is failing to address "

Oxford is one of 44 towns and cities identified by the Royal College of Physicians and The Lancet as failing the WHO's air quality test.

Chris Church, a member of Oxford Friends of the Earth, speaking at the meeting, described the situation as "a public health emergency"

He said. "It needs all of us to tackle it It s not an intellectual exercise, but something essential to our future and everyone has a role to play here

"We all have to put pressure on, we all need to say we want some work done and we want some people to take some difficult decisions."

Keith Taylor MEP speaking at the Air Pollution: Plans to Tackle a Public Health Emergency event at Oxford Town Hall last week

Thousands enjoy burning Parliament

THE Houses of Parliament were burned to the ground in a London-themed fireworks celebration

Wallingford set designers spent more than 100 hours building a 24ft effigy from paper only to see it torched at the Kinecroft on Saturday

Ron Quinton from Wallingford Corn Exchange built this year's feature to celebrate bonfire night.

The impressive effigy is a scaled down version of the historic building and was the main feature of the night

The highlight of the night came after a long process of drawing and cutting out the structure in the Corn Exchange workshop before transporting it to Haynes Garage on Hithercroft and painting it.

Mark Brett, one of the organisers, said: "The Houses of Parliament atop the bonfire was amazing. Without the generous donations of time, money and goodwill from the people of Wallingford events like this could not take place and the town would be worse off."

Any ideas for next year's effigy can be emailed to markbrett@yahoo.com

Dealer found in city centre with a knife and stun gun

By George Welch

A DRUG-DEALING teenager caught in central Oxford armed with a knife and a stun gun has been jailed.

Ryan Austin, 19, of Penn Road, Milton Keynes, has been sentenced to a total of five years' imprisonment for drugs and firearms offences

Thames Valley Police officers spotted him talking to known drug users in George Street Mews on August 1

When officers attempted to stop him, he ran away but was later stopped.

He was found in possession of 50 wraps of class A drugs as well as the knife and a stun gun.

Austin was charged with the offences the following day and was convicted and sentenced at Oxford Crown Court on October 26.

He pleaded guilty to possessing a prohibited weapon, having a pointed blade in a public place possession with intent to supply heroin and possession with intent to supply cocaine.

Investigating officer Sergeant Pete Neale of the Oxford Central Neighbourhood Policing Team, said: "This is an excellent result for everyone involved in this investigation.

"We are committed to ensuring dangerous articles are taken out of circulation, reducing the incidences of drug related crime and ensuring widespread public safety"

MP vows to fight for voting rights

AN Oxfordshire MP has pledged to keep fighting for the right for 16 and 17 year olds to vote.

Oxford West and Abingdon's MP Layla Moran called for the law to be changed in a House of Commons debate last week to enable young people to vote in elections and referendums.

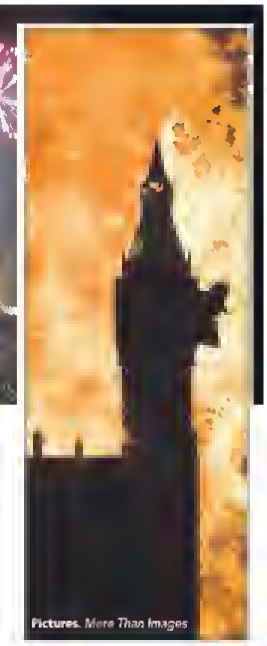

Due to a lack of time, MPs were unable to vote on the issue and the MP said she was disappointed she and others in favour of the motion were 'denied a chance' to vote

Speaking during the debate Ms Moran said that 18 years as a teacher had persuaded her that it was wrong to think that young people know less about politics or aren't interested in decisions affecting local communities and the country as a whole

Commenting after the debate, Ms Moran said."Residents from across Oxford, Kidlington and Abingdon – of all ages – have contacted me to ask me to support this change in the law, and I have to say I entirely agree with them.

"If 16 and 17 year olds can vote in local elections and referendums in Scotland then they really should be allowed to do so here too – and as a former teacher I am well aware of how engaged young people are with politics and the issues that affect us locally, nationally and internationally"

She added "I'll be keeping up the fight to convince the government to change the law"

£250m bid submitted for roads and bridges

'Essential infrastructure' for garden town plans

By Samantha McGregor

PLANS to improve road links between Didcot and Culham have taken a step forward after a bid for £250million was submitted.

Oxfordshire County Council wants the government to fund "essential infrastructure" including a road bridge across the River Thames, a new duel carriageway and a bypass.

The council said the road improvements were necessary as plans for Didcot Garden Town moved forward.

The £250m would fund a road across the Thames linking Didcot and Culham Science Centre, which is estimated to cost more than £100m, a bypass for Clifton Hampden, creating a duel carriageway at the A4130 Didcot ring road and a new bridge over the ring road and railway.

A decision over funding is expected to be made by the government next summer.

Gerry Brough, who heads up the garden town plan said the road improvements were essential if the garden town plans and South Oxfordshire District Council's Local Plan for thousands of new homes and jobs are to be achieved between now and 2033.

South Oxfordshire District Council leader John Cotton is optimistic about gaining the funding

He said the county council were up against "fierce competition" for the government cash with 236 applications from other councils.

Mr Brough said "Only 10 applications will make it through but we have had some good soundings from government sources which have given a lot of weight to our garden town plan."

District council leader John Cotton said: "Our garden town project is unique in that it provides not only more houses but jobs too.

"We are optimistic of getting government support for infrastructure improvements which are necessary if the garden town is to be a success."

The Local Plan features more than 22 000 new homes and the creation of 20 000 jobs in the next 16 years and is currently out for consultation.

However it has caused controversy with residents as the garden town element would feature 3 500 homes built on green belt land next to Culham Science Centre and astride the railway line.

The district council says if it does not get the infrastructure funding it will reduce the number of homes from 3 500 to 1 575.

Get in line for free doughnuts

DOUGHNUT specialist Krispy Kreme will open its new store in the Westgate Centre next week – and you dough not want to miss it.

The sweet treat retailer will offer 16 melt-in-the-mouth varieties, from the classic Original Glazed to Reese's Peanut Butter.

Free doughnuts will be given away across the city in the run-up to next Thursday's 10am opening.

The first in line on opening day will win a double dozen doughnuts every month for a whole year.

The first dozen in line will also win a goodie bag.

Operations director Neil Williamson said: "We've seen great success at our store in The Clarendon Centre and can't wait to bring the joy of Krispy Kreme to Westgate Oxford.

"We're really looking forward to meeting our dedicated fans on the 16th – see you there!"

Leisure centre revamp to offer better facilities

By George Welch

WORK on a £150,000 refurbishment of Henley Leisure Centre began this week.

The refurbishment is designed to significantly improve the environment, which has been severely criticised in the past, with the poolside changing rooms and toilet areas being revamped throughout.

There will also be new changing cubicles, lockers and vanity units, while new LED lighting will reduce the amount of energy used.

Work at the Gillotts Lane centre is expected to take around six weeks to complete.

Swimmers can change using the dry-side changing area with the swimming pool and all other facilities remaining open to the public.

The renovation, funded by South Oxfordshire District Council, will be a welcomed boost for operator Better (part of GLL) which pledged to clean up its act after being exposed for having dirty changing rooms and showers in February.

Better's Ben Whaymand

Ben Whaymand, partnership manager for leisure operator Better, said he hoped the upgrades would "greatly improve the customer journey and overall swimming experience for all Henley residents".

Cllr Lynn Lloyd, SODC's cabinet member for leisure, added: "I'm delighted that we will be starting work to improve the changing area and I'm sure swimmers in Henley will welcome investment we are making.

"We will do our best to keep any disruption to a minimum so please continue to visit the centre and make the most of everything on offer."

Fans boogie with heroes

SHOPPERS at Banbury's Castle Quay had a host of fun when two television favourites dropped in.

Hundreds of fans turned out to meet Skye and Marshall, characters from children's show Paw Patrol.

The visit was part of the Pup Pup Boogie Tour run in association with toy shop The Entertainer.

Young fans were able to get a snap with the pair and joined sessions to learn the characters' dance moves from the show.

Centre manager Paul Jackson said it was "a great day of entertainment for our shoppers".

He said: "We loved having Paw Patrol's Skye and Marshall join us as part of their Pup Pup Boogie Tour. It was great to see so many families meeting the duo and enjoying themselves in the Pup Pup Boogie."

It wasn't the only entertainment at the centre: families descended on the shopping precinct to meet creepy creatures, enjoy fun face painting, take part in eerie arts and crafts and complete a Halloween treasure hunt.

The spooky fun was part of the Sunny the Duck Kids' Club.

Lisa Upton and her family met Skye at Castle Quay Shopping Centre while Marshall met 'mini Marshall' during the PAW Patrol Pup Pup Boogie Tour

Blenheim to offer affordable housing scheme across estate

By Samantha McGregor

A GROUNDBREAKING scheme to help cut the housing waiting list has been launched.

West Oxfordshire District Council has joined forces with the Blenheim Estate to provide 300 affordable homes in Long Hanborough and Woodstock East.

In the initiative believed to be the first in the UK, the estate will offer affordable housing either for rent or shared ownership and rent levels will be "significantly below those currently provided by housing associations."

Prospective tenants will come from people on the council s homeseeker plus waiting list with priority given to local residents and key workers such as teachers and nurses, the council said.

Cllr Colin Dingwall, cabinet member for housing, said: "Affordable housing is a top priority for West Oxfordshire District Council – it is essential for the long-term wellbeing of residents and our local economy that we provide answers to this issue.

"This is one of a range of new models I am working on to provide more affordable homes. I would like to thank Blenheim and our officers at WODC for their vision in supporting this innovative new model and look forward to promoting it across the district with other institutional landowners."

The initiative is part of Blenheim's 10-year development programme in which the estate will triple its contribution to the local economy and complete a £40million restoration programme of the World Heritage site.

Roger File, chief operating officer and property director of Blenheim Estates, said: "Existing affordable housing in West Oxfordshire is still not really affordable.

"If we can provide housing for local people including vital key workers such as teachers and nurses, then it will help our communities both socially and economically.

"This initiative forms part of one of our long-terms aims to help and support local communities and we are looking to roll these schemes out at all our developments both now and in the future, allowing them to evolve as housing needs change.

"We will retain ownership and do all we can to ensure the housing stays affordable in perpetuity."

Woodstock Town Council was contacted for comment.

Free health app

RESIDENTS are being reminded to download a free app to help them find pharmacists and GP practices in the county, particularly now temperatures are falling in the colder months.

A smartphone app called Health and Care Oxfordshire created by Oxfordshire Clinical Commissioning Group allows people to find their nearest health service.

It highlights the types of injuries of illness a treated at minor injuries units or first aid units.

Residents are also able to find information on a range of services delivered by sexual health clinics and their location.

Users will also be directed to the county s adult social care website and to PatientAccess, where they can use online services provided by their GP practice.

Information is displayed on a digital map showing the exact location of the service and contact details. Opening times of individual services can also be accessed.

The app can be downloaded from the usual app stores.

Meet the police

BICESTER Town Community Resilience Group meeting takes place at Tesco Community Room at Lakeview tomorrow at 7pm to raise concerns and discuss local policing priorities with officers.

Grumpy farmer husband's unique apology to his wife

A MYSTERY woman whose name was etched in huge letters in a field has been tracked down after a national search on social media.

Everyone was on the lookout for Sue after helicopter pilots from the National Police Air Service spotted the peculiar crop pattern "Sue X" on land just south of Tetsworth last week.

On Friday evening it was revealed it was a romantic gesture to appease a disgruntled farmer's wife.

It turns out farmer Murray Graham created the message for his wife as a way of apologising for being grumpy.

Mr Graham told BBC Radio Oxford he used his GPS-operated tractor to spray the crops in the shape of his wife's name.

He had intended for his son George, a pilot, to take a photo and show it to his wife as an apology.

It has not yet been confirmed whether Mr Graham is now officially out of the dog house.

Since pictures of the crop pattern emerged last Thursday, people speculated far and wide and used hashtags Find Sue and Who is Sue to try and track the mystery woman down.

Kara Sheppard tweeted, "Those aliens are getting ever more sophisticated."

Dylan Godfrey suggested, "Could be a loved one of that person trying to get it on google maps to show how much they love her maybe?"

Oxfam staff sacked over sex claims

By Eva Astreinidou

A WORLD-RENOWNED charity has sacked 20 members of staff over sexual abuse claims in the past year.

Oxfam, based in Oxford, dismissed the employees after dealing with a number of sexual exploitation and abuse cases in the 12 months to April 2017.

Two other employees also resigned before the investigations involving them ended.

As the shocking figures were revealed last week, Oxfam said sexual abuse was a serious problem but that they were 'not unique'.

In a statement, a spokesperson said, "Oxfam treats all allegations of sexual abuse and exploitation very seriously.

"In recent years we have worked hard to raise awareness among staff and inform them about how they can make complaints in confidence without fear of victimisation.

"We continue to learn and seek to improve not just in how we handle complaints but also in changing the culture in which we work to prevent the abuse of power in the first place and support those that speak out."

Of the complaints, 53 were referred to police and other services, Oxfam told the Thomson Reuters Foundation.

There were 33 internal investigations and about three-quarters resulted in disciplinary action.

The figures have emerged at the same time as a flurry of allegations about abuse in British politics and Hollywood have come to light.

A spokesperson added, "Oxfam is not unique. Sexual abuse is a serious problem in society. We all, including Oxfam, need to get better at preventing and dealing with sexual abuse but as an international organisation fighting for women's rights we have a special responsibility to practice what we preach and protect our staff, volunteers and beneficiaries from sexual harassment and abuse.

"High profile cases have shone light into this very dark corner of society and give us a chance to do more to tackle sexual abuse."

The release of the figures come after Lesley Agams, a former manager at the charity, told The Times she was sexually assaulted by a senior manager at a hotel in Oxford in 2010.

Portraits show the real Oxford

PORTRAITS showcasing the diverse community of Oxford will be on display this month.

More than 20 paintings, drawings and photographs will be featured at Weston Library from November 24 until early January as part of the exhibition.

The Full Picture: Oxford in Portraits is part of the university's Diversifying Portraiture project which aims to broaden the range of people represented around the university.

The art will feature living Oxonians including BBC journalist Reeta Chakrabarti, astrophysicist Dame Jocelyn Bell Burnell, film and television director Ken Loach, and broadcaster and charity campaigner Dame Esther Rantzen.

Dr Rebecca Surender, advocate and pro-vice-chancellor for equality and diversity at Oxford University, said: "It is hugely important for students and staff to feel at home at Oxford, and to feel inspired by people they can relate to. This series of portraits, created by a talented group of artists, will broaden the range of people represented around the university.

"All of those nominated and selected to take part have made enormous contributions to Oxford life and to society more widely."

The free exhibition, open to all, will feature current academics and former students of a variety of ethnic, socio-economic backgrounds and those with disabilities and from the LGBTQ+ communities.

Cyclists gear up to help children

By George Welch

TEAMS of Oxfordshire care home workers pumped up their tyres and donned lycra to play their part in an epic cycle challenge to raise money for BBC Children in Need.

Staff from Mill House in Witney, Albany in Oxford and Hempton Field in Chinnor rode a total of 56 miles last week as part of the Wishing Wheels project.

All 71 Brighterkind care homes will ride a stage of the cycle relay challenge along a 2,000 mile route that runs from Inverness to Bournemouth before ending in St Brelade on Jersey.

The course twisted through the county on Wednesday and Thursday last week – days 23 and 24 of the 33-day challenge.

On Wednesday, staff from Mill House rode 13 miles to Albany before the Oxford team travelled 18 miles to Hempton Field.

The following day a sole rider cycled 55 miles from Hempton Field to Ware.

At the end of each stage each care home team handed over the team's mascot – Buddy Bear – to be taken on the next stage.

The long ride started in Inverness on October 2 and the aim is to finish on November 15, with a target to raise a minimum of £17,500.

Mill House in Witney joined in

Janet Richardson, regional manager at Mill House, said: "There has been amazing encouragement and support from colleagues, residents in our care homes and their relatives."

The care team riders from Mill House were Janet Richardson and Tony Richardson.

From Albany: Alex Hindiu, Emily Woelki and Marioara Zait Cristea and Alan Cudsen.

From Hempton Fields: Antony Smith.

Market celebrates five years in the community

By Samantha McGregor

A COMMUNITY market which was set up after the demise of a village pub is celebrating its fifth anniversary

Villagers in Piddington, near Bicester, set up The Pantry in 2012 after the pub closed leaving the village hall as the only community facility

The idea was to set up a shop and cafe in the village hall for the residents, who otherwise had to travel to either Bicester or Thame for their shopping.

Villagers will mark the anniversary at a Christmas Market on Saturday December 2, the biggest event The Pantry has held so far

One of the organisers, Hazel Coleman said, "We'll be celebrating the determination of a small community to create and sustain a new village amenity in tough times and the wide-ranging effect this successful bid to make a difference in our community has had on our village."

The first Pantry Market and Coffee Shop was held on December 1, 2012

Fast forward five years – and more than 20 markets – the venture is going from strength to strength.

It has raised more than £10,000 through profits from the general store, a beer tent and coffee shop, stallholder fees, raffles and second-hand book sales

The money has been used to help local appeals including cash for the renovation of the village hall's kitchen and construction of a kitchen and servery at St Nicholas Church.

Mrs Coleman said, "The Pantry has had a more wide-ranging effect than simply raising money for village projects however

"The sense of involvement and community spirit it has fostered in villagers has led to other community initiatives such as the three hugely successful apple days held in Piddington, which has resulted in Piddington Village Apple Juice and Piddington Cider both of which are sold to raise further funds for village causes.

"We feel delighted and proud that a small rural community that had lost most of its amenities has managed to create and sustain such a successful initiative in tough times."

Campaigner going all out for the Extra Mile award

AN open spaces campaigner has been shortlisted for an award by a specialist magazine

Kate Ashbrook, general secretary of the Henley-based conservation body the Open Spaces Society is in the running for an Extra Mile award, a scheme organised by The Great Outdoors magazine.

She was nominated for her work with the Open Spaces Society and the Ramblers

Kate, who is also vice-president and vice-chairman of the Ramblers, vice-chairman of the Campaign for National Parks and patron of the Walkers Are Welcome Towns Network, is a life-long campaigner for public paths and open spaces

She said, "The extra mile is the one that matters. We already have some public paths and some right to roam access, but there is much more to be won – that's the extra mile."

The Open Spaces Society is an organisation that campaigns to protect greens, open spaces and public paths and the right to enjoy them.

Kate's Oxfordshire campaigns include protests about blocked paths during Henley Regatta, the campaign for greater freedom to roam, and supporting activists who wanted to register land as town greens

She is advising Henley in its bid to be a Walkers Are Welcome town.

Voting closes on November 15

Foster care 'champion' given award for her amazing work

By George Welch

AN inspirational woman who spent 15 years in foster care has been recognised with an award for her contributions to the care industry

Emma Lakin, from Henley endured a turbulent childhood and lacked self esteem after being in foster care from the age of three until she reached adulthood at 18

But last month the estate agent was presented with the Outstanding Achievement Award for succeeding through foster care 'against the odds'

To sing everything in her stride Emma said, "For me, foster care was very straight forward

"I was lucky enough to only have one foster placement from start to finish which unfortunately is not the norm.

"I think it is important for children to have stable placements so they feel like they are part of the family

"I did come across some difficulties at the end with the transition from foster care to independent living as I was going to university and social services were not clear on how to assist me, which made life more difficult."

Now 25 years old, recently married Emma, who runs a business with husband Chris in Greater London, has used her experience to help those in foster care

While living with her foster carers Emma played a significant role in the household, helping other fostered children settle in and even spent time as a support carer for her foster carers.

She is a passionate advocate for foster care and has given talks and championed recruitment campaigns.

> "I think it is important for children to have stable placements so they feel like they are part of the family"
> Award winner Emma Lakin

Emma's foster carer, Lynne, who nominated her for the award, said she is "extremely proud" of her

"Despite her difficult start to life she has achieved her goals and is committed to helping others in their journey through life. We think she's amazing," she added.

Emma collected the award at The Fostering Network's Fostering Excellence Awards in London last month.

She said receiving the award was an "honour", adding: "I know many people in foster care have had a very tough life compared to myself, so although I have had to work hard to get to where I am, there are others that must really struggle and deserve recognition."

A 'WISHING wall' for charity will be created at Oxford Castle just in time for Christmas

The team at Oxford Castle Unlocked are asking the public to donate as many jam jars as possible.

The jars, each with a candle inside, will be used to line the castle walls in a special event on November 17

For £1, members of the public can light a candle and make a wish, with all proceeds going to the Make A Wish Foundation

A lantern procession will start at 6.30pm, returning at around 7.30pm.

Members of the public can donate washed, empty jam jars to Oxford Castle Unlocked ahead of the event.

Play with inclusion

A PLAY that tells a story for the deaf and hard of hearing will be staged in Oxford.

The heart felt People of The Eye will be on at the Old Fire Station on November 24 as part of a nationwide tour

Developed with inclusion at its heart, the play uses infrasonic sound design, sign language, mime and projected visuals

Inspired by writer and performer Erin Hutching's own experiences of growing up with a deaf sister, the show tells the story of a family navigating the deaf world.

Free pet food for greyhound charity

AN Oxford based charity that rescues and rehomes greyhounds and lurchers has been named a pet food firm's charity of the year

The Forever Hounds Trust will get free pet food throughout 2018 thanks to the Burns Pet Nutrition Foundation, a family pet food business based in Wales.

Founded in 1990 as Greyhound Rescue West of England, the charity has helped rehome more than 9,000 dogs across the country in the past 28 years and is entirely reliant on fundraising and donations to cover the costs of caring for and homing dogs

Chairman of the trustees Jan Lake said she was "delighted" to receive the support from Burns

She said "We're delighted to have been chosen as one of Burns' Charities of the Year, and look forward to working together

"We have many mouths to feed at Forever Hounds Trust and are very grateful to Burns for their support of our vital rescue work for greyhounds and lurchers throughout England."

Founder John Burns is delighted to be helping the charity

Founder John Burns, a veterinary surgeon, said, "Myself and the Burns Pet Nutrition team are extremely passionate about supporting and giving back to the community in any way shape or form possible – and the same goes for charities in need of the support they aren't currently receiving."

Two other charities being supported by Burns are the UK German Shepherd Rescue and Irish charity Dogs for the Disabled.

Improving patients' knowledge of diabetes

OXFORD health chiefs have pledged to improve diabetes education to help people living with the condition understand and manage their situation.

Healthcare provider Oxfordshire Clinical Commissioning Group received £113,000 from NHS England to provide local courses

The overall aim is to have 50 per cent participation in a diabetes education course within five years for people newly diagnosed with Type 1 or Type 2 diabetes

The initiative is part of charity Diabetes UK's campaign to increase and advance education for people with diabetes.

Dr Amar Latif, clinical lead for diabetes at the OCCG said, "We are really excited at this opportunity to improve education for patients with diabetes

"This pledge is a cornerstone of our work. Prevention and treatment of diabetes is a key priority given the major impact of the condition on people in Oxfordshire

"This is an excellent opportunity for patients with diabetes to better understand their condition and how best to manage it."

To sign up, ask your health care professional or GP on how to access a course

Oxford Bus Company buses parked loud, proud and colourful and inset, the 'true colours' video which will be played on buses around the county

Buses proud to be supporting Pride

OXFORD Pride has partnered with a bus company to broadcast videos across the city celebrating diversity

The video which aims to raise awareness and inclusivity of LGBT+ people in and around Oxfordshire is broadcasting on 41 Oxford Bus Company buses reaching an average audience of 100 000 people per week.

Oxford Pride chair Paul McGann said. "The partnership will enable us to reach more communities in Oxford and the surrounding areas and give people the confidence to be who they want to be and live their 'true colours' (the theme for next year's event)."

Oxford Bus Company managing director Phil Southall said. "One of our core values is embracing diversity and it is this important everyday philosophy that inspires us to support organisations like Oxford Pride."

Oxford Pride will take place between May 25 and June 3 next year with Pride day held on June 2

School at forefront of education innovation

By George Welch

SCHOOL leaders from across the south east will meet next week to discuss how innovation can be achieved on a budget.

Education chiefs will assemble at Aureus School on Great Western Park, Didcot for a morning of leadership debate and resource-sharing on Wednesday

Headteacher Hannah Wilson will give a talk in the afternoon discussing school leadership throughout the wider community

Education technology leadership, CPD (continuing professional development) and more will also be deliberated.

Ms Wilson said. "It is important, in the current climate, that schools take opportunities to network and build partnerships.

"Collaboration with the regional community is key to our future success, not only as a school, but as a system.

"Doing so ensures that we are able to take advantage of every opportunity to improve teaching, learning and outcomes within our schools.

"As a brand-new STEAM (science technology engineering, arts and mathematics) school, innovation is in our DNA."

The event is free for headteachers, deputy and assistant heads, business managers, subject leaders and curriculum coordinators

The Aureus School event is part of the Innovate My School Live roadshow which focuses on how schools today are doing more with less

Its CEO and founder Michael Forshaw said. "It's going to be a real privilege to run an event with Aureus School.

"Hannah Wilson has put together something of a 'dream team' lineup of teachers and school leaders and we're looking forward to seeing how this new school is already making waves in UK education."

Putting poppy appeal in safe hands

A SPECTACULAR event helped kick off this year's poppy appeal in Oxfordshire

The Oxfordshire county committee of The Royal British Legion, with the support of RAF Benson, held the event to mark the launch last week at St Edward's School in Oxford

Honorary guest and one of the county's oldest veterans Ken Hicks, who served in the RAF during the Second World War, was flown there in a helicopter from RAF Benson to sell poppies to raise funds

He was accompanied by combined cadet force cadets from St Edward's School in Oxford

Last year's poppy appeal in Oxfordshire raised £622,543 which went towards the Legion's national total of £46million to continue delivering practical support to the Armed Forces community

Thanks to previous donations, the Legion answered more than 780 000 requests for help, provided crisis grants, and advised on benefits and money problems.

St Edward's pupils gathered to buy poppies and enjoyed getting a look inside the helicopter

Hospital appeal hits halfway mark

By George Welch

THOUSANDS of devoted fundraisers have helped Oxford Children's Hospital Charity hit the halfway mark of its special 10th anniversary £2million appeal.

Hundreds of hours have been devoted to running, golfing, baking and abseiling to reach the £1m milestone, with the cash going towards the construction of a new 'home from home' at Ronald McDonald House for sick youngsters.

Children's fundraiser Penny Hambridge said, "We have been overwhelmed by the support from people across the county

"We always knew Oxford Children's Hospital had a very special place in people's hearts, but we have been blown away with the tremendous support.

"We are delighted to be at the half way point of the appeal already and hope people will continue to support this very special local cause."

One of those groups to help make a difference is our charity of the year fundraising group Play2Give which has raised more than £10,000 this year towards the cause.

Founder Andy Baker, 29, said, "As someone treated as a child and having experienced first hand brilliant care in old facilities, I know the importance of the fundraising.

"P2G has been working tirelessly in our own 10th year towards this very special appeal to help ensure that families have new accommodation as when I was in hospital there was no such parent beds and rooms as they are today"

Ms Hambridge added "So many local groups and individuals have got involved with the appeal and we are incredibly grateful to them all – including the wonderful Play2give group who have been working so hard with their fundraising during this special year"

The appeal will help create more space for parents to stay close to their ill children, as well as fund extra play areas and specialist medical equipment.

Business park is a real hive of activity

THERE'S been an audible buzz around a business park near Wallingford after it enjoyed a bumper honey harvest.

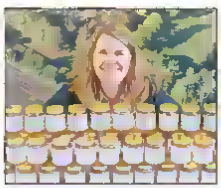

Following a hive of activity, Howbery Business Park has finished fixing the labels on 72 jars of home grown honey

Known as Howbery Honey, the sweet substance has been produced by on site bees at the park, introduced over the summer of 2016.

Estates manager Donna Bowles said, "We introduced the bee hives to Howbery Park in spring last year to make the most of our landscape, and to provide added interest for our tenants so this autumn marks the first proper season for honey production and the harvest has exceeded our expectations."

She added "We have been able to offer tenants and employees on the park the chance to learn more about honey bees with a honey extraction workshop and a visit with a master bee keeper to see inside the hives—in full protective clothing, of course!"

The public can buy the honey from the Manor House shop at the park for £3 a jar

Award a real game changer

A BUSINESSWOMAN with a dream of helping 1 500 women return to work by 2022 by teaching them tech skills has been honoured with a 'game changing' national award.

Joy Foster who set up Oxford-based TechPixies in 2015, was awarded Enterprise Nation s Female Start up of the Yeae 2017 accolade at the Festival of Female Entrepreneurs in Bristol last month.

She said, "Winning a national award could be a huge game changer for TechPixies It has already provided us with fantastic exposure through the event and will help to raise our profile as we look to take TechPixies beyond Oxfordshire and the Thames Valley"

The competition was created to showcase early stage female start-up entrepreneurs who are excelling in their industry To win the award, Mrs Foster had to deliver a three-minute pitch and field six minutes of questions from a panel of judges.

She added Winning this award has meant a lot to us as a team.

"It was amazing to be among so many women who have the ambition to run and build businesses and create employment for other women."

TechPixies which has achieved 100 per cent success from its first two cohorts by helping 50 women get back to work, announced its first London group earlier this year

Joining forces to develop region

By Eva Astreinidou

OXFORDSHIRE authorities have pledged to work together an proposals that will help support and finance growth in the area.

Members of the Oxfordshire Growth Board have agreed on new joined up strategies to include housing and transport the creation of living labs to test new technologies, and a pilot to collect around £20million from taxes on local businesses.

The plans aim to further the collaboration between the county's six councils and the local enterprise network by pooling resources and ideas to plan for Oxfordshire s growth.

Councillor Bob Price, leader of Oxford City Council and current chair of the Oxfordshire Growth Board, said. "I'm pleased the board is continuing to work collaboratively in the collective interest of Oxfordshire its residents and businesses to help deliver the best possible growth outcomes for the county

"We want to ensure growth is sustainable and enhances people's quality of life, provides opportunities for the next generation and delivers more of the right types of housing."

In the first order of business the joint spatial plan will lay out strategies for housing and infrastructure to include projects such as the Oxford Cambridge growth corridor

The plan will look to set a direction for the whole of Oxfordshire up to 2050

Secondly the board has made an application to the government to pilot a scheme where the council would retain 100 per cent of increases in taxes to local businesses to then use that to support and finance commonly agreed projects.

The amount that would be pooled is estimated to be around £20m

Thirdly the plan to create new living labs will feature innovative ideas and new technologies being tested in specific locations with the aim of tackling challenges in health, mobility and sustainable energy

Living Labs could be used to measure the effectiveness of new technologies and approaches to sustaining independent living and keeping people healthy and out of hospitals.

Furthermore the tests could help improve the mobility of people and goods across the county and help develop more sustainable means of transport.

Get ready for Autumn

Now's the perfect time to replace your garden fence once and for all. Anna Ryder Richardson - Designer and Television Presenter - takes a closer look at Colourfence, the revolutionary low-maintenance system

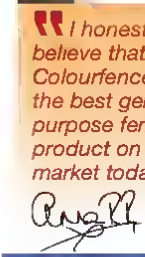

It's been ten years since I regularly graced TV screens helping transform people's living spaces with MDF and stripped floorboards. Recently it's been more "celebrity mock out" than celebrity make over as I took up the challenge of owning my own Wildlife Zoo in Tenby. In this time I've learnt quite a lot about fences and having researched the various options for my own benefit I thought I would share my knowledge with a wider audience.

The latest design processes mean there is now a tremendous array of fencing products for you to choose from...constructed from a variety of materials. Each has its own attributes and ultimately it can often come down to a matter of personal preference. For me there was one unique system that stood out as providing the best balance between price and functionality which eradicates fencing problems for good. Or for at least 25 years. Colourfence. For quality, value, longevity, aesthetic design, this fencing system ticks all the boxes. Fencing made for the 21st century that will transform the look of your garden when it's supplied and fitted by a company whose customer service is as good as the product.

In my view Colourfence is the Rolls Royce of fencing. Just without the exclusive price tag. What's more, it's guaranteed to stay in place in up to 130mph winds and is virtually maintenance free.

To find out how the experts from Colourfence might help you, I suggest you call 01865 582 171 and speak to their team.

"I honestly believe that Colourfence is the best general purpose fencing product on the market today!"

Colourfence: The ultimate garden fence?

For many Colourfence is perhaps the ultimate choice. For the last 15 years it's been widely used across the UK and has steadily gained a reputation for its quality. By using this high specification Colorbond steel in the fence structure itself, complemented by the highest level of customer service from accredited Franchisees, Colourfence is now regarded by many as the premier fencing solution in the market. Immune to the rot and resistant to the weather that so quickly effects wooden fences, Colourfence has none of the drawbacks of wood - plenty of additional benefits and what's more it's better value!

Call 01865 582 171 for more information

Gardeners' Questions

Q Wooden fence panels just don't seem to last - is there a storm resistant alternative?

A The Colourfence system has been tested under cyclonic conditions to withstand storms with wind gusts up to 130mph. Unlike your wooden fence – once professionally installed – Colourfence really will stay up.

Q No matter what I treat my wooden fence with - nothing seems to prevent it rotting or looking shabby for very long.

A Treating your fence is a thankless and expensive task. It's also a losing battle. Wood simply wants to rot. Colourfence offers a low-maintenance alternative where by an occasional wash down will keep it looking great for up to 25 years! GUARANTEED!†

Head into Autumn - with COLOURFENCE

The only garden fence you will ever need!

Every gardener knows that it pays to plan ahead. If you are one of the thousands of people who watched helpless, as winter winds battered their garden, it will not be a surprise that garden fences are almost always the first casualty. Whether you have previously patched, painted or simply prayed to keep your fence going, there's no escaping the fact that timber fences will always fall victim to the weather. With Colourfence you can put your garden straight once and for all. Colourfence is scientifically tested and cyclonically rated to ensure when professionally installed, it can withstand wind gusts of up to 130mph. Once it's up – it stays up and is guaranteed to look good year after year. Safe, extra secure and hassle free – you will NEVER need to paint it, treat it or patch it. An occasional hose down will be all you need do to keep it in top condition for years to come. In fact the system is so durable that Colourfence will guarantee† their fencing to last at least 25 years. Available in a range of colours to suit any garden, with or without decorative trellis, the highly skilled installation team make short work of their dramatic transformations. Your sad old fence will be efficiently cleared and replaced, leaving you to get back to enjoying your rejuvenated garden. Pricing is just as straightforward and equally attractive. Starting costs are in line with inferior timber systems but with no annual treatments required, Colourfence saves you time and money each and every year. Their aim is your peace of mind. With a 25 year guarantee† Colourfence speaks for itself and promises a lifetime of hassle-free enjoyment.

Panto season gets off to a cracker with fairytale

By Samantha McGregor

THE festive season is drawing near so that means you can expect to hear cries of 'Oh yes it is' and 'he's behind you'.

And Chipping Norton theatre is the first in Oxfordshire to start the Christmas run with opening night on Tuesday for this year's offering Sleeping Beauty.

Celebrating its 44th year the pantomime runs until January 14.

Audiences are warned to expect Bond villains, blow up beds and berserk pie-making machines.

As usual playwright Andrew Pollard has put his own spin on the traditional tale of Sleeping Beauty.

In this version there lives a Princess, her long-suffering Nanny, her doting Fairy Godmother and grumpy old King Lenny.

On her 18th birthday, the Princess pricks her finger on a spinning wheel and falls deeply asleep. When she wakes up, exactly 400 years have passed and things have got a whole lot grimmer.

The Princess is in a place she doesn't recognise, people are wearing strange clothes, there's very strange music and most importantly who just kissed her?

With original music by Harry Sever, script from playwright Andrew Pollard, and the theatre's own artistic director John Terry as director.

The cast includes Connor Bannister as Prince Jagger while Eamonn Fleming embarks on his first year as Dame at The Theatre Chipping Norton.

Lucy Penrose, who previously played Young Judy Garland at London Theatre Workshop, premieres as Princess Rose along with Christian James as Wily Wallflower and Bea Halland as Fairy Flax.

This year's villain, Belladonna Birdweed is played by Erica Guyatt and Paul Tonkin is King Lenny.

During the two month run, the schedule includes two child-free evenings and two relaxed performances aimed at families with children with an autistic spectrum condition, sensory and communication disorders, learning disabilities and adults living with dementia and their carers.

Tickets start at £11 and are available by calling the box office on 01608 642 350 or view chippingnortontheatre.com

November can seem a long month, with dark nights, grey days and still a long wait for any Christmas presents or festive celebrations.

The Brakspear Jazz & Blues Festival, is returning for a fifth year to offer another reason to go to the pub and banish the November blues.

The Jazz & Blues Festival runs from November 10-19 in Brakspear pubs across Oxfordshire and Berkshire and further afield and is set to showcase a diverse range of jazz and blues music, performed by soloists and bands including local artistes. Some of the acts appearing are:

■ November 10: Hare & Hounds in Sonning Common, Marco Ferns performs R&B on his harmonica, with a s deluck adding vocals and guitar.

■ November 17: Steampunk band Curious Sounds perform at the Catherine Wheel in Goring. The winners of last year's Has Reading Got Talent contest are the first of a weekend of jazz & blues at the pub with gigs also on Saturday and Sunday.

■ November 17: Tom Mitchell brings his distinctive style of blues guitar to the Angel on the Bridge in Henley.

■ November 18: Niall Kelly, another Jazz & Blues Festival veteran, appears at the Saracen's Head, Hardley, fresh from playing support for Jacqui Abbott & Paul Heaton, formerly Beautiful South, at a series of concerts in his native Ireland.

■ November 19: John Cee Stannard, an acoustic blues trio playing good old fashioned foot tapping blues, perform at the Horse at Wargrave. Tickets £25, including a southern style buffet.

Brakspear chief executive Tom Davies said, "We're looking forward to welcoming music lovers into our pubs and are confident they'll all have a wonderful time listening to some brilliant music, enjoying a beer or two and maybe even getting onto the dance floor. What better way to spend a dark November even ng?"

Juplicitous side of Phill on show

By Samantha McGregor

STAND UP comedian, poet, improviser and TV stalwart Phill Jupitus hits the road this autumn with his new show Juplicity.

Phill became a familiar face when he started as team captain on BBC2's pop quiz Never Mind The Buzzcocks in 1996, which went on to run for 19 years.

He is also a regular guest on BBC2's QI and Alan Davies: As yet Untitled on channel Dave, a regular panellist on BBC Radio 4's I'm Sorry I Haven't a Clue and The Unbelievable Truth and was resident curator on The Museum of Curiosity.

He returned to television stand-up in 2012 with an appearance on BBC1's Live at the Apollo.

Now he's returning for a new stand-up tour.

Phill took time out to talk to chat ahead of his appearance at Chipping Norton Theatre on November 24.

Asked about the tour, he said: "I have a lot of material to choose from for this tour.

"The thing that really works for me is that I support myself as Porky The Poet, so he goes out and does 40 minutes to start the evening.

"Because of Buzzcocks and other jobs I was given, I let Porky and the poetry slide but after about a decade I came back to it and wrote new poems, often just chucking stuff out on Facebook for mates to read.

"Combined with the old poems and factoring in chit chat between them, I had about an hour of material."

Phill's tour would not be complete without live music, he said. "The songs for this tour are now solid, all that comes from the time I was in the band with Neil Innes and Ade Edmondson.

"Because I've spent time away from touring stand-up, you get better at doing it by building the source material.

"For the autumn tour I'll do two hours a night, 40 minutes poetry, quarter of an hour of songs, and the rest is stand-up."

In terms of the stand up element, Juplicity will draw on his own life which he describes as both chaotic and flaky.

Add a little sparkle

Canadian comedian Katherine Ryan brings her show Glitter Room to the New Theatre on Saturday, at 8pm.

Katherine recently received rave reviews as the presenter and writer of Channel 4's critically acclaimed prime time series, How D'd You Get So Rich? and regularly appears on major panel shows such as QI, Have I Got News For You and Live at the Apollo.

Tickets cost from £23.45 and are available from the box office or at atgtickets.com/oxford.

Headlong with John

Singer and guitarist John Smith will stop off in the city as part of a UK tour promoting his album Headlong.

Tickets are available for John's appearance at St Barnabas Church, Oxford, on November 16.

Produced by Sam Lakeman and featuring Cara Dillon on backing vocals, Headlong is the follow up to Great Lakes: John's 2013 album.

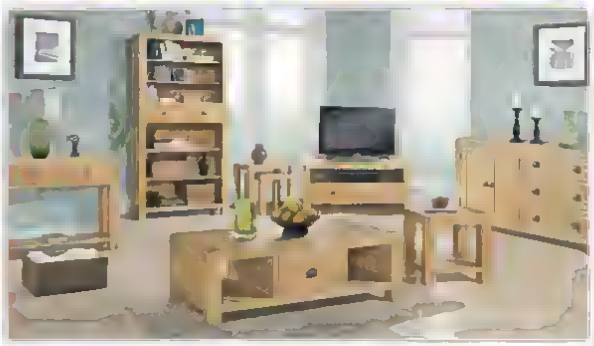

Here they go again...

Mamma Mia, the tale of family and friendship set on a Greek island paradise told to the backdrop of ABBA's timeless tunes rolls into Oxford.

The musical opens at Oxford's New Theatre on Tuesday, November 14 and runs until Saturday, November 25. Tickets from the box office in George Street, call 0844 871 3020 or go to atgtickets.com/oxford.

Russian Revolution in the spotlight

By Samantha McGregor

POWERFUL tales from Russia are brought to the stage when the Welsh National Opera return to Oxford this autumn with three productions.

Two are Russian-themed operas which mark the centenary of the Russian Revolution – Tchaikovsky's Eugene Onegin and Janáček's From the House of the Dead, based on the book by Dostoevsky.

Alongside these are two performances of Johan Strauss's Die Fledermaus.

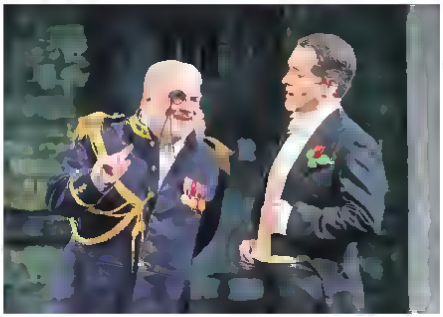

Opening the week is Eugene Onegin, which follows the cynical protagonist as he rejects the romantic advances of the young country girl Tatyana, before later coming to regret his actions and feeling the sting of rejection himself.

Considered one of the greatest Russian operas, Tchaikovsky's music reflects the high society at the time and the yearnings of the heart with evocative arias, romantic choruses and luscious waltzes.

Rising star and Welsh singer Natalya Romaniw takes the role of Tatyana, and Australian baritone Nicholas Lester takes the role of Onegin.

The House of the Dead is a revival of WNO's original 1982 production.

Unfinished at the time of Janáček's death, this will be the first time the opera is performed in a version that is as close as possible to what Janáček intended.

Die Fledermaus features a rich, romantic score. Picture: Bill Cooper and right, The House of the Dead is a revival of WNO's original production. Picture: Clive Barda

Telling the story of the inmates of a Siberian prison, the opera reflects their feelings of pain, oppression and injustice as each recount why they ended up in jail.

Their gloom is eased as they painstakingly nurse an eagle back to health, which comes to symbolize both Russia and the notion of freedom.

WNO Artistic Director David Pountney says: "Our approach has been to present operas that in very different ways illustrate the enduring character of Russians and Russian society.

"The most enfeebling is Russia the romantic, as illustrated by Eugene Onegin, an unbearably touching story in which Pushkin's Mozartian sense of irony is overlaid by Tchaikovsky's unrestrained passion.

"In stark contrast, Janáček's setting of Dostoevsky's autobiographical account of his experiences in a Siberian prison reminds us that violence and the suppression of freedom have remained one of the essential levers of Russian government."

Featuring a rich and romantic score by Johan Strauss, Die Fledermaus will transport audiences to early 1900s Vienna to join the characters at a masquerade ball as a plot around mistaken identity unfolds.

Performances will take place from Tuesday November 28 until Saturday December 2.

I heard a rumour about girl-group Bananarama on comeback tour...

EIGHTIES girl band Bananarama are stopping off in Oxford as part of their comeback tour.

Sara Dallin, Keren Woodward and Siobhan Fahey will take to the stage at the New Theatre on Monday December 4, from 7pm.

It will be the first time the trio have ever toured together.

Sara said: "Keren and I have toured as a duo for years, but we never toured or played live with Siobhan.

"We've been talking about this idea for a while and now the moment has finally arrived it's incredibly exciting."

Since their last performance as a trio on The Brits in 1988, Keren and Sara have continued as Bananarama, releasing records and touring to global audiences.

Siobhan went on to have hit singles and albums around the world as part of Shakespear's Sister before becoming a solo artist.

Siobhan said: "These were my formative years. I never thought it would happen again.

"It's like going back down the road to find a piece of myself that I left back then. The older I get, the more I realise it was pretty magical."

Tickets cost from £44.45 from www.atgtickets.com/shows/bananarama/new-theatre-oxford/

Its official.

Hearing aids can do more than improve your hearing.

Following a survey carried out in 2015 by Anovum (a market research company) of 1325 hearing impaired people (605 hearing aid wearers and 720 not wearing hearing aids) The survey reports that hearing aids not only improve capabilities of hearing well but also improved the general health of hearing aid wearers compared to hearing impaired people who do not wear a hearing aid. Hearing aid users are less likely to think they have the symptoms of dementia, feel less physically and mentally exhausted, sleep better and are less likely to suffer from depression.

The survey confirms what some Audiologists have suspected for some time, that hearing aids are not only good for correcting hearing loss but in fact contribute to better and more active lives, better quality of life, and better overall health.

For the hearing impaired workers who wear a hearing aid it is reported that their hearing aids are useful for their job and that the hearing aids also increase the chance of them getting promoted, being in the right job and getting more salary compared to those hearing impaired people who have not obtained hearing aids.

The full report can be found at EuroTrak UK 2015 – ehima

A new hearing system is just the beginning and a hearing aid system is only as good as the audiologist prescribing and programming it.

At Keith Donaghy Hearingcare we offer the best bespoke hearing aid systems virtually unnoticeable fitting comfortably into your ear.

Keith will help you every step of the way whilst you adjust to your new hearing ability, for some this takes months for others a matter of a few weeks but Keith is always on hand to answer questions or give advice on getting the best from your system. The last thing he wants (as is often the case when insufficient aftercare is available) is for your hearing aids to end up in the back of a drawer somewhere, unused because you felt that nothing else could be done to rectify any programming or rehabilitation problems.

Keith wants to know if you have any concerns about your hearing, no matter how big or small, so that you and he can work together to achieve the best result.

Sleeping Beauty at the Theatre Chipping Norton

Agent. You've got another Dame Audition
Me: Brilliant! Where is it for?
Agent. The Theatre Chipping Norton.
Me: Brilliant! Erm. Where's that?

Can you forgive the ignorance? I certainly can't. Not after being here for the first few days of rehearsals. Because it's lovely. Lovely people, lovely theatre, lovely town. Everything's about 5 minutes walk away. Every one's really friendly. Why haven't I been here before?! Eamonn Fleming, this year's Panto Dame Nanny Fanny gives the inside scoop on the first week of rehearsals for The Theatre Chipping Nortons Sleeping Beauty
I'm playing the Dame for the 4th time in my career. This year, it's Nanny Fanny in Sleeping Beauty

Fellas. Seriously. If you're ever offered the chance to put on a dress and be silly in return for money, grab it with both (manicured) hands. The Dame is a brilliant opportunity to do all the things you're not supposed to do as an actor. You talk to the audience. You take the mickey out of them and everyone else. You tell silly jokes, show off, improvise. Love it.
First day of any new job can be a bit stressful. You are about to spend a lot of time working closely and socialising with a whole new bunch of people. With Panto there's the added stress of being away from home over Christmas, so it's got to be the right mix of personalities, this lot seem bang on. No Egos. No 'attitude'. All just keen to crack on, make a great show and have fun doing it.

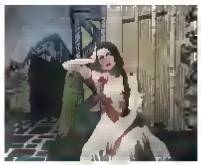

The first day of most rehearsals usually stick to a well known formula. You meet all the rest of the cast, creative team, crew, theatre staff etc. You drink too much coffee. You eat too many croissants. Then you do a read-through of the script for the rest of the staff. Hopefully people laugh a bit. You look at the set design. Get a tour of the theatre. Do some more detailed script reading in the afternoon. And that's about your lot. But, Director John Terry mixes it up a bit. We do all the above as per usual. The read through is very funny this time thanks to a cracking script, but in the afternoon we actually dive straight in. We rehearse some scenes, start learning songs, choreography, do some costume fittings. It pops the tension bubble perfectly. Then we all end up in the pub. I think I'm gonna enjoy this one. Want to see how it went? Buy your tickets now!

Christmas Feature

The countdown is now on to finding the perfect gift

IT may only be the start of November but before you know it Christmas will be here.

I know what you're thinking, 'hasn't that come round fast?

It happens every year when we wake up and suddenly realize that Christmas is within touching distance and like most people you want to have a Christmas to remember ...for all the right reasons

When Christmas draws ever closer no-body wants to be stressed out over the festive period, so with a little bit of planning, this can literally be the Christmas that you and your family have always dreamed of.

Every year, we are always guilty of buying at least one present that we know will be never used by our loved ones but we still go ahead and buy it anyway.

It happens every year and before you know it that one gift is collecting dust in your spare room with the person who you bought it for, forgetting that it even existed.

Why do we do this? It's because our minds are suddenly locked into thinking that we must purchase everything we sets our eyes on.

Try and get out of that habit this year by getting something for your loved ones that you know they will enjoy – a gift that is consistently used is a clear indication your money has been well spent.

The retail possibilities are endless—clothes bikes, hobbies toys, mobile phones, gardening gadgets you name it....

There is something for everyone, and if you spend your time and money wisely with a fair amount of planning you could have the Christmas you have always wanted.

And if you're really struggling to find a present for a loved one, how is this for a suggestion?

Presents don't always have to be materialistic it's the memories that last a lifetime and with Christmas just around the corner tickets to a festive show or a pantomime can sometimes be the perfect gift for some.

ADVERTORIAL

Simple steps homeowners can take now to protect their assets

Head of April King Legal Paul King explains why some homeowners are doing too little, too late to protect their hard-earned assets.

Paul King Head of April King Legal

1. Care Cost Fees

A lot of people are still unaware that if they need care in later life their assets will be means-tested by the local authority to help pay for these services This goes back to the Community Care Act 1990, which came into force in 1993.

If someone requires social care in later life, the local authority will look to use the assets of a person until they get down to a lower limit of £14,250 when the local authority will take over the fees.

Paul knows this all too well, after experiencing this personally "My own grandmother sadly passed away recently at the age of 92. My grandfather had died many years earlier and left everything to her

When she needed care in the last six years of her life because my grandfather had left everything to her, the house and all the estate were counted in the local authority's means test.

Our clients tell us, 'We've worked hard all our lives, why should the local authority get it all?'

Just as she died, she had gone down to that lower limit of £14,250 – and that's all that her children inherited."

There are many myths about the steps people can take to protect their assets from being used like this The main one is that a parent should simply sign their house over to the children now so it won't be taken into consideration for means testing. That's just not true

Local authorities will actually look to see if you've deliberately deprived yourself of an asset by giving property away going back over any period in time

Sometimes people think if the gift is made seven years prior then the house is safe.

This is not so as the seven-year rule only applies to Inheritance Tax and not local authority care.

The solution is for couples to simply not leave everything to each other in the first place.

Paul continues: "What my grandfather could have done is leave his half of the house in trust to his children, stating that they couldn't have it while his wife my grandmother was still alive. We call these Property Trust Wills

If my grandfather had left his half of the house in trust to the children then when my grandmother subsequently received care in her later life she would have only been means tested on her own half of the house, but my grandfather's half would have been safe

Why should he have to contribute his half when he didn't receive any care?

The important factor is that couples need to act in advance Once one party dies or loses mental capacity through a stroke for example, they are no longer in a position to do this legitimate and straightforward type of planning

It is therefore important for couples to act now even if they may not foresee care fees being an issue."

Paul goes on to explain a further important point Most clients he sees are surprised to learn that remarriage usually cancels a will and makes the new spouse next in line to inherit ahead of their own children!

Protecting your half of the house in this way he suggests, ensures that your children ultimately inherit when the survivor dies.

"Had my grandmother remarried after the death of my grandfather the whole estate could have passed sideways out of the family," says Paul.

It's another important reason for home-owning couples to upgrade to a Property Trust Will.

2. Bloodline Trust Wills

The majority of April King's clients have already made standard "mirror wills" with other firms before approaching the firm. A mirror will is when a couple leave everything to each other on the first death then to the children when the second partner dies But modern family life means these type of wills leave a lot to chance

Explains Paul. "If I have a mirror will leaving everything to my wife and she remarries or goes into care after my death then either the new husband or the local authority are likely to inherit most if not all of my estate ahead of my children

Even if my children are named in my mirror will it is by no means certain that they will inherit anything

Once again, this is because a remarriage would cancel the will my wife had previously made with me and make the new husband next-of-kin. This often comes as a big shock to my clients who had perhaps thought that all was in order and that the family bloodline would one day inherit.

The same is true for thinking that their children and/or grandchildren will one day benefit under a mirror will If any of your children should die leaving everything to their husband or wife and that son-in-law or daughter-in-law should then remarry then your grandchildren would be the ones to lose out under the line of inheritance

Worse still, someone else's grandchildren would be in line to receive the benefit of all your years of hard work!

I've experienced this in my own family and I'm sure most people have had similar experiences or heard of someone who has Bloodline trusts will give greater protection to your children."

Paul continues: "These things can be avoided by having a bloodline trusts will Under these types of wills your children have complete control and access to the inheritance they receive from you but give added protection from the twists and turns of modern family life The wording in these wills states that any money left over on their demise must pass to any children born of them – your grandchildren."

3. Lasting Power of Attorney

Paul explains how people often get confused thinking that, because they have made a will, their executors can also deal with assets if there is illness, stroke or some other form of incapacity while they are still alive

"Everyone should actually have two documents – a will that deals with their estate on death, and a lasting power of attorney that deals with their estate during their lifetime." he says

The lasting power of attorney is a relatively new introduction and is divided into two parts – one deals with finance, the other deals with health and welfare In many ways it's similar to a passport, a document that's registered now and one which can be physically handed to the attorneys should the need arise It allows the attorneys perhaps the children to deal with banks and pension companies etc should their parent become incapacitated, but also to deal with matters such as where the parent should be living and how they receive care. Your attorneys again perhaps your children, must legally act in your best interests at all times You can choose a number of attorneys to act, either jointly or independently and April King advises on the various options available

Couples are often surprised to discover that even joint bank accounts can be frozen until the bank sees sight of a lasting power of attorney document

Having a lasting power of attorney removes the burden on children should ill-health happen further down the line It helps a family deal with bank accounts and so on during a parent's lifetime and ceases on death. Crucially, you have to complete a lasting power of attorney while they are still in good mental health.

If someone becomes ill through say a stroke or dementia this option is lost and the family would have to apply for a order from the Court of Protection – a drawn out and expensive process It is therefore a good idea for clients to plan ahead and remove any future burden from the family

Once again, all adults should be thinking of this particularly where there are children or a business involved It's not just something to think about when you get older that's the challenge for us

People think 'I'm not ill, why do I need to make a power of attorney?'

But they're missing the point. This is a document that has to be done in advance Paul adds "The next part is to appoint the attorneys your children. Don't forget, your children can be the executors of your will and attorneys as well The lasting power of attorney remains in place until you die unless you want to cancel it. Once it's registered, you don't have to worry if you then develop some debilitating illness A burden has been removed from the family at an already difficult time."

Audi QS 2.0 TDi Quattro 190PS S Line, S Tronic

Looks good and drives even better

By Tony Yates

I'm not sure about you – but when I first set my eyes on the Q5 I thought 'man its hig' –but then as you start to look around at what else is on the road, you begin to notice that actually it's really not that big at all, compared to its competitors.

Then when you finally get behind the wheel and start driving the Q5 it actually feels no bigger than a medium-sized saloon – which to be honest for a large SUV is amazing.

Power & efficiency

The Q5 I had on test was fitted with a 190PS 2.0 litre TDI direct injection diesel engine that has 400NM of torque and can accelerate from zero to 62 mph in 7.9 seconds and will reach a maximum top speed of around 135mph.

The Q5 is also equipped with a Stop/Start system to enhance fuel economy which all helped the Q5 return a combined figure of around 50mpg using my normal driving route – plus a bit of motorway driving.

On the road

The steering is accurate in whatever situation unfolds itself on the road and the chassis and grip levels are all good thanks to that wonderful Quattro system. The Q5 is also a very engaging drive but you need to remember that this car is not a raw seat of your pants drive – even with the S Line & S Tronic badges nailed to the tailgate.

When you do finally find the right road to get the hammer down, the Q5 fits in perfectly with the road ahead thanks to independent suspension and a five-link axle with a front track rod, aluminium link subframe and tubular anti-roll bar at the front & rear.

As I said before the Q5 comes with that wonderful Quattro on-demand system that is designed to switch between all wheel drive and front wheel drive in a fraction of a second by monitoring driving dynamics, road conditions and driver behaviour.

Design & technology

Equipment highlights include Dual

Good features and a firm sense of reliability help make the Audi Q5 a brilliant car

circuit brake system, Antilock Braking System, Electronic Brake Force Distribution (EBD) Electronic Differential Lock (EDL) Traction Control (ASR) Electronic Stabilisation Control (ESC).

Then we move onto the inside. For a start off, there is now more headroom, legroom and cabin space on the inside compared to the previous model. Plus, Audi has used premium materials on the inside of the Q5 and nothing looks cheaply made. Then there are the controls – set out to be as ergonomic as possible and have that quality feel to them throughout the interior.

Some of the standard equipment includes 19" x 8.0J 5-twin-spoke star design, diamond cut finish alloy wheels, S line exterior body styling, LED headlights with Q signature design, LED rear lights and dynamic indicators. Front Sport seats with 'S' embossed logo in leather/Alcantara, Inlays in matt brushed aluminium, high multi-function 3-spoke leather steering wheel with grips in perforated leather. Gear-lever knob in black perforated leather. Illuminated door sill trims with 'S' logo, privacy glass, contrast stitching on seats, steering wheel and gear lever gaiter.

Plus 4-way electric lumbar support, LED Interior Lighting Pack, MMI Navigation (SD card-based), Audi Connect Infotainment Services Plus (3-month trial – then 36 month subscription available) I could go on.

To sum up

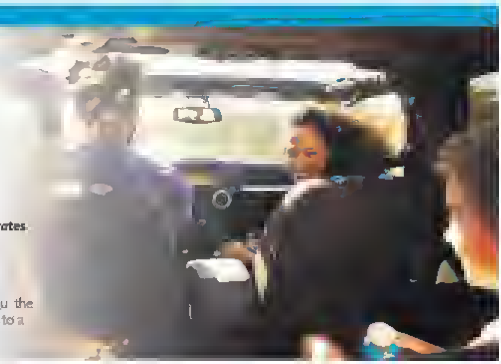

The Q5 is a brilliant car – but what makes it stand out from the rest is its ability to look good and drive even better. I would not rule out taking a look at the Audi Q5 in the future because it has some great features along with a good chassis and a firm sense of reliability on its side.

Taking the Compact-SUV segment by storm – the MG ZS

With sales of Compact-SUV and small Crossovers continuing to grow across Europe, up 10% in the first half of 2017* MG Motor UK has increased its offering in the market with its all-new MG ZS. A global car which has been reengineered specifically for the UK audience, the MG ZS demonstrates MG's continued commitment to design excellence, engineering innovation and affordable style.

Available from UK dealers as of 1st November 2017 the MG ZS has already attracted significant attention since it was officially unveiled at the London Motor Show earlier this year. The intervening six months has seen thousands of people register their interest in the car with dealers expecting this to translate to record sales figures in the latter part of the year.

With the entry-level model available on the road from just £12 495 – around £2 500 more affordable than the equivalent Nissan Juke and other competitors – the MG ZS also launches with a host of competitive finance offers.

At just £199 per month for the top-of-the-range Exclusive manual, with £3 550 deposit, 0% finance, the MG ZS represents outstanding style and exceptional value.

Guaranteed for the future with an industry-beating 7 year warranty

Coming with one of the longest fully transferable warranties in its class, the MG ZS offers a 7 year/80 000-mile warranty as standard across all variants. Testament to MG's confidence in the quality of its design, engineering and manufacturing operations, this industry-beating warranty sees MG back up its promise of quality with a full 7 year manufacturer warranty, with rivals such as SsangYong, Hyundai and Toyota only providing 5 years.

Driving excellence with three unique steering modes

The MG ZS is a global car with a distinct British feel. Completely reengineered by the UK engineering team, this MG ZS has been tested on UK roads and developed for UK drivers. As such, the Excite and Exclusive models come with three power assisted steering modes – Urban, Normal and Dynamic – which are designed to give the driver complete control over their ride.

While Urban steering offers a lighter and quicker response at low speeds and when parking, the Dynamic mode is designed to increase the steering effort, deliver a higher damping effect and increase the centre definition at medium and high vehicle speeds. The Normal steering option delivers a great fit to MG's tailored suspension set up and vehicle dynamics response for drivers who want to maintain a consistent ride.

Top-spec tech – including Apple CarPlay

Firmly committed to ensuring customers get exceptional value for money, the MG ZS comes with most of the 'extras' as standard. An industry-leading 8" touch sensitive infotainment screen is supported by DAB radio (on the Exclusive and Excite models) while Bluetooth hands-free and remote central locking is available across the range. Cruise control is also included, while air conditioning comes as standard on Excite and Exclusive models and Satellite Navigation and a rear camera are standard on the Exclusive variant.

MG also stands out from the crowd with its offer of Apple CarPlay on the MG ZS Excite and Exclusive variants at no extra cost. The safer way to use your iPhone in the car, CarPlay takes the things you want to do with your iPhone while driving and puts them on the car's in built display. With the massive 8" touchscreen in the MG ZS Excite and Exclusive models, this means you can get directions, make calls, send and receive messages and listen to music all in a way that allows you to stay focused on the road.

Dynamic design and a new, tri coat paint

The MG ZS showcases the future design direction for MG, expressing an 'Emotional Dynamism' which is set to feature across all upcoming models. A distinctive grille, increased MG branding and delicate nose gives the car a refined look that is carried through to its sweeping corners and solid backend. A combination of quality and premium finish has been at the heart of MG's design philosophy, with every surface, material and fitting selected for its visual impact, as well as durability and longevity.

The MG ZS, as standard in Arctic White, also comes with a range of colours and metallic options – Laser Blue, Black Pearl, Cosmic Silver and Spiced Orange, as well as a specially developed tri coat Dynamic Red paint option. Headlights are also a key design feature, with a massive 23 LEDs creating a design statement in each one and day/dusk sensors even on the entry-level Explore model.

Class-leading space

With one of the most generous shoulder, leg and headroom capacities in its segment, the MG ZS offers a premium travelling experience for driver and passenger alike – providing around 55mm additional rear shoulder room and 80mm rear headroom than the segment average. An incredible 448 litres of boot capacity (some 60 litres larger than the typical Compact-SUV) – plus a split level boot – provides plenty of room for prams, luggage, outdoor leisure equipment or the weekly shop, while keen cyclists and adventure sports fans will benefit from numerous compartments throughout the car which provide additional storage.

Cheaper than the equivalent Nissan Juke, the MG ZS offers similar internal space to the larger Qashqai. At 179mm longer, 44mm wider and 46mm taller than the Juke, this makes for a more generous cabin, that enables larger adults to sit comfortably both front and rear. An additional 94 litres of boot space over the Juke makes it a more practical option too. The MG ZS also outperforms other rivals in the segment, with 98 litres of additional boot volume over the Mazda CX3 and 93 litres on top of the Ford EcoSport.

The MG ZS is also European Regulation R129 i-Size compatible in the rear of the car across all models – Explore, Excite and Exclusive, meaning it is suitable for all rear-facing car seats which rely on ISOFIX settings.

An engine for the future – 1.5 litre, five-speed manual and 1.0 litre automatic

Customers can choose from a 1.5 DOHC VTI-tech, four-cylinder engine with smooth and responsive five-speed manual gearbox, or a 1.0 GDI turbo-charged, three cylinder version of the engine which complements the six speed automatic gearbox option to produce a fast-paced and dynamic ride for drivers looking to experience a little extra.

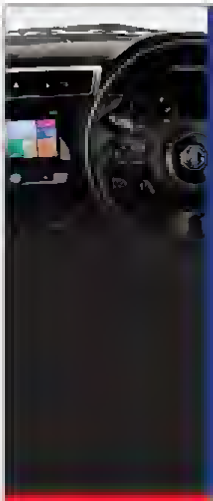

With a larger fuel tank than the equivalent Nissan Juke, the MG ZS offers increased range, less need to fill the tank, lower CO2 emissions and an improved performance – with the MG ZS delivering 1 100kph in 10.9 seconds, compared to 12.0 seconds for its rival.

From testing to driveway – MG ZS availability in the UK

Having been tested to extremes in Sweden at minus 35 degrees Celsius, Spain at 42 degrees Celsius, Austria at exceptionally high altitudes and Wales in the typical British drizzle, MG is confident its Compact-SUV can stand up to any challenge. Available at more than 80 MG dealerships across the UK – and with a network that is still growing, consumers can get their hands on the exciting new MG ZS from November 2017.

Massa: F1 career is at an end

By George Welch

F1 - Williams

WILLIAMS driver Felipe Massa is to retire from Formula 1 at the end of the season – again.

The Brazilian first retired a year ago only to return to the team when Valtteri Bottas left to join Mercedes following the shock retirement of world champion Nico Rosberg.

But Massa, whose 267 Grand Prix starts are the sixth most in history, said his decision is final this time.

He said: "I agreed to return this season to help Williams when the call came. I have now enjoyed four great years with the team, but my career in Formula 1 will finally come to an end this season."

Massa, 36, has won 11 grand prix in his career and joined Grove-based Williams in 2014.

Over the last four years, he has helped the team secure third place in the Constructors' Championship in 2014 and 2015, and fifth place in 2016.

Massa, who achieved his biggest successes for Ferrari, thanked his supporters and said: "I take so many great memories with me as I prepare for my final two races in Brazil and Abu Dhabi, and although they will be emotional, I am looking forward to ending on a high note and preparing for a new chapter in my career."

Williams deputy team principal Claire Williams said it has been "an absolute pleasure" to work with him.

She added: "We are especially grateful that he agreed to postpone his retirement from Formula 1 for a year after Valtteri joined Mercedes, which demonstrated the depth of the relationship we built during our time together.

"We appreciate that it wasn't an easy decision for him to return, after having such an emotional send-off at the end of last year."

The team said it would announce its 2018 driver line up in due course, although Robert Kubica, Paul di Resta and Pascal Wehrlein have emerged as the favourites to replace Massa.

Massa heads into his penultimate Formula 1 race in his home country on Sunday on 36 points.

Grosjean hoping to narrow gap in constructors' table

F1 - Haas

ROMAIN Grosjean believes Haas can benefit from the raft of changes at Toro Rosso to overhaul the Rahan team in the championship.

While Grove-based Williams look set to secure fifth place in the Constructors Championship positions six, seven and eight remain up for grabs with just two races to go.

Heading into Sunday's Brazilian Grand Prix, Toro Rosso lead the way of that mini pack on 53 points, five ahead of Enstone's Renault and six in front of Banbury's Haas.

But the Faenza-based team, who have only scored once in four races and have changed both drivers this season, are there for the taking, according to Grosjean.

The Haas top scorer said: "I think out of those teams, Renault is the faster one. They've got a really good car through to the end of the season.

"They've had a bit more of a difficult time in the races which has allowed us to close the gap and keep them in sight [but] Toro Rosso is the one we can try to go for.

"They're not performing better than we are, and they've got less experience among their drivers so that should help us."

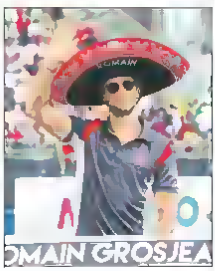

Team-mate Kevin Magnussen called for focus ahead of the penultimate race of the season in Brazil.

The Dane said: "It's only one point now to Renault for seventh and it's only six points to Toro Rosso.

"It's extremely close and anything can happen in these last two races.

"We just need to be on top of everything and get everything out of it that we can.

"It's not going to be easy. Those teams are doing well and they're tough competitors."

Rider's successful year topped off with royal honour

Equestrian

A TEENAGE showjumping superstar collected a prestigious award at a ceremony that brought together British and equestrian royalty.

Oliver Fletcher received the British Showjumping Award from Princess Anne following an incredibly successful year.

Representing Great Britain at the Children's European Championships in Samorin, Slovakia, the 14-year-old from Faringdon won both team gold and individual bronze medals as a result of his performances across the championships.

The youngster also won the Children's International Grand Prix in Wierden in Netherlands riding horse Dahar.

Thanks to his remarkable consistency in over 1 metre 50 classes Oliver, the son of former showjumping Olympian Graham and London 2012 reserve rider Tina, is the leading under 21 rider in the British Showjumping leagues.

This year's event celebrated the 75th Animal Health Trust UK Equestrian Awards.

Professional riders, leading equine vets and horse welfare specialists attended the special event hosted at The London Marriott Hotel in Grosvenor Square at the end of last month.

Eddie Pepperell finished tied sixth at the Turkish Airlines Open

Turkish delight for Eddie after a strong finish

Golf

EDDIE Pepperell's strong finish to the season continued with another fantastic outing in the Turkish Airlines Open.

The Frilford Heath member ended on 14 under par for a share of sixth place in Antalya, four shots off winner Justin Rose.

The Abingdon golfer's best run of form in his career has propelled him back into the world's top 150 after an 18-month absence.

It was Pepperell's third consecutive top 10 finish as well as his seventh in his last eight tournaments.

Pepperell, whose high point came when he eagled the 15th hole on the final day, put in championship winning performances in three of the four days and even found himself in second place heading into Saturday.

The week started in sublime style, with the 26-year old recording back-to-back rounds of 66 in days one and two to sit second in the leaderboard, four points behind then-leader Nicolas Colsaerts.

Things were going steady on Saturday until two late bogeys on the 17th and 18th holes meant he carded a level-par round of 71.

Pepperell had lost places, starting the final round in a share of seventh, but hadn't lost shots on the leaders.

Birdies at the fourth, fifth, 11th and 12th holes kept Pepperell in the hunt, although his progress was hindered by dropped shots at the seventh and 13th.

He hit back with his eagle three on 15 to finish strongly and secure his tied sixth placed finish.

Pepperell is up to 35th in the European Tour money list for this season, ahead of the Nedbank Golf Challenge in South Africa, in which he tees off at 6.39am today (Thursday).

Young golfers tee up promising careers

Golf

JUNIOR golfers enjoyed the challenge of competing at Studley Wood GC as the east Oxfordshire venue held the JGAP Champion of Champions Final.

Alex Barnett, who is a member at Ellesborough (Wycombe) and has a handicap of 23, was the stand out player as he carded a magnificent tally of 43 points over 16 holes.

The 12 year old finished four points ahead of Freddie Murfitt (Studley Brook), who took second from Kidlington's Alfie Westbrook (Studley Brook/Frilford Heath) with the same score.

Countback was needed to decide the winner of the girls competition as Lily Rigby (Walden) edged out Huntswood (Taplow) clubmate Erin Bailey thanks to a better back three holes after both came in with 38 points.

Scoring in the boys' nine-hole competition proved that the future continues to look bright for regional golf after Eli Matthews (Goring & Streatley) bagged 34 points to clinch first prize by four from Callum Lambert.

Leigh on top in seven-goal thriller

By George Welch

Evo Stik round-up

NORTH Leigh twice came from behind to earn a thrilling 4-3 win at home to Bideford and record back-to-back home wins for the first time this season.

Mid table Millers, who trailed 1-0 and 2-1 before a fantastic second-half showing, have been craving more consistency to replicate their play-off challenge of last season.

Leigh got the win against play-off hopefuls Bideford but they certainly did it the hard way.

Bideford took the lead midway through the first half through Craig Duff.

A powerful George Seacole strike deservedly got the hosts back on level terms no 39 minutes but Bideford went in at the break ahead following Duff's second of the afternoon.

However, John Brough's side came out fighting in the second half as they hit three goals in eight minutes.

Matt Grabe's shot from the tightest of angles made it 2-2 on 54 minutes before Degon Noel Williams, on loan from Oxford United, put the hosts in front for the first time.

Seacole then scored his second to make it 4-2 but Leigh had to fight to hold on following Connor Waldron's red card.

James Mayne reduced the deficit in added time but the home side held on.

Didcot Town slipped out of the Evo-Stik South West play-offs after suffering a 4-0 defeat at home to league leaders Taunton Town.

The Railwaymen conceded after just seven minutes when Dan Sullivan slammed home.

Didcot were 2-0 down shortly after the hour when Ollie Chamberlain powerfully headed home a cross.

And just 12 minutes later it was 4-0 as Taunton taunted their hosts following Matt Wright's quick-fire double.

Kidlington played out a 0-0 draw at home to AFC Totton to extend their unbeaten league run to eight games and stay a point and place above county rivals North Leigh.

In the South East division, a 94th minute Aylesbury equaliser pinned Thame United back in a 1-1 draw.

United broke the deadlock just after the hour when Lynton Goss, playing against his former side, unleashed an unstoppable 25 yard shot into the top corner.

But Jordan Jenkins snatched a point when he headed past Craig Hill.

Puritans throw away lead to lose two in a row by two

Banbury United

BANBURY United's five-match unbeaten run came to an end with two losses at home this week.

The Puritans threw away a 1-0 lead to lose 2-1 against Tiverton Town on Saturday before succumbing to King's Lynn Town by the same scoreline three days later.

A Darren Pond header midway through the second half wasn't enough to earn United anything at the Banbury Plant Hire Community Stadium on Tuesday.

Two first half goals from Michael Clunan (25 minutes, pen) and Cameron Norman (34) were enough for the Linnets to claim all three points.

United improved in the second period to grab a goal back but couldn't force an equaliser.

The defeat followed another disappointing day at the office on Saturday when Tiverton Town hit back from behind to inflict a 2-1 defeat.

Goals from Levi Landricombe and Owen Bowen in the final 20 minutes of the game turned the game around to cancel out Matt Peake-Pynen's equaliser.

The Puritans were dominant and could have been ahead by the break as Jefferson Louis, Ravi Shamsi and Luke Carnell all went close.

Louis hit the post before the breakthrough was finally made on 55 minutes when Peake-Pynen connected with a Charlie Hawtin pass to score from a narrow angle.

But the visitors struck back against the run of play on 73 minutes when Landricombe's 30 yard effort nestled in the back of the net.

The game was turned on its head when Tiverton's Howe headed home a free-kick to condemn United to their first defeat in nearly a month.

Nomads pointless in back-to-back away defeats

Hellenic round up

DISAPPOINTING back-to-back away defeats halted Oxford City Nomads' resurging form.

The development side went into last Friday's match at Tuffley Rovers in confident form having won their previous four matches.

However a last minute header meant they left Gloucester with a 2-1 defeat and no points.

The Nomads suffered a worse night at Thatcham Town on Tuesday as the Kingfishers strolled to a 5-1 win at Waterside Park.

Wantage Town drew 1-1 at mid table Longlevens the same night to maintain their unbeaten record but in dropping the two points the Freds wasted the opportunity to turn up the pressure at the top of the Hellenic Premier table.

Jim Glover scored in the final 15 minutes to cancel out Myron Turner's first half opener and rescue a point.

The draw followed the promotion hopeful's comeback win at bottom club Fairford Town on Saturday.

Dan Bailey gave Fairford the lead at Cinder Lane Stadium but a Steve Robertson strike levelled the scores before half time.

Goals from Jack Powell and Jack Dunmall in the last 13 minutes eventually saw Town across the line.

Abingdon United's match at Lydney Town on Saturday was postponed due to a waterlogged pitch.

There are no league games this weekend but Wantage Town host Melksham Town in the second round of the FA Vase on Saturday.

Stars light up league after victory in top-of-table clash

Ice hockey

OXFORD City Stars are shining bright at the top of the NIHL2S Wilkinson table after beating Peterborough Phantoms 7-3 in Sunday's top-of the-table clash.

Stars head coach Kenny Redmond expected a tough night in Peterborough, and that's exactly what he got.

But in a game that swung one way and another and threatened to boil over on more than one occasion, the Stars emerged victorious.

The away side raced to a 4-0 lead as Kamil Kinkor and Matt Lawday scored first period goals before Mike Whillock and Josh Oliver netted quickly after the restart.

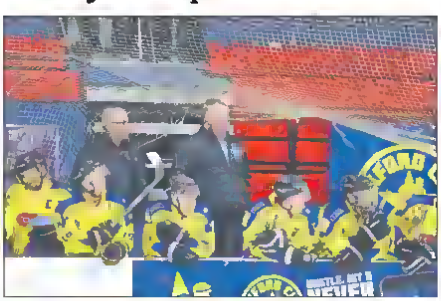

The game was far from over though and, spurred into action, the hosts hit back through James Pentecost.

A flurry of goals in the second half of the period meant the initiative swung one way then the other – captain Darren Elliott and Dax Hedges netted for the Stars, Bradley Moore and Kenny Bavin for the Phantoms.

The second period also saw most of the penalty action, with scuffles breaking out on numerous occasions.

However the third period was a much calmer affair with a solitary goal scored by Oliver to wrap up the win.

The Stars face two games this coming weekend as they travel to Haringey Huskies on Saturday before welcoming Guildford to Oxpens Road on Sunday.

Eagles rebrand to join with Heat

Basketball

OXFORD Eagles, the long-running wheelchair basketball club for children based in the city, has re-branded as Oxfordshire Heat and become part of the South Oxfordshire Heat Basketball Club.

The decision to change the club name and logo and unite under one framework has been taken to improve the growth of wheelchair basketball opportunities for youth and adult players.

Kieran Calvert, head coach of the wheelchair basketball programme, said: "We have been building wheelchair basketball in Oxford for some time but it's really started moving forward because of the partnership with South Oxfordshire Heat.

"We have doubled our numbers in a few months and it is super exciting where we are going. This is a growing sport and we are really pleased to be able to provide the opportunity to play to more people in Oxfordshire."

Club trustee Shiv Mahalingham added: "The unification of the clubs will open up basketball to many restricted mobility children and adults in Oxford and we plan to enter a league next season for those all important competition opportunities."

Heat sessions take place at the GLL Better Leisure Centre in Abingdon every fortnight on Friday from 6.45pm to 7.45pm (adults) and Sunday from midday to 1pm (children).

U's through in topsy-turvey game despite narrow defeat

OXFORD United are through to the knockout stages of the Checkatrade Trophy despite a chaotic 4-3 defeat at home to MK Dons on Tuesday

Two goals from Jack Payne in the first half and a Rob Hall strike in the second meant little as results elsewhere guaranteed the U's a place in the next round as runners up in Group G

The goal-fest at the Kassam was played out in front of just 1,182 spectators – United's third lowest home gate of all time

But those who did attend enjoyed an entertaining game although the defending on show was as leaky as the weather was miserable.

Pep Clotet, the United boss, made five changes from Friday's awful FA Cup exit at Port Vale

The U's created lots and had copious chances to stick the ball in the back of the net only for Brandon Thomas Asante to give the Dons the lead on 10 minutes.

Joe Rothwell, Xemi, Payne and Jon Obika went close for United, the latter striking the post for the men in yellow

Robbie Muirhead missed an open goal at the other end – and all this happened before 25 minutes.

Oxford had threatened an equaliser but found themselves in the lead thanks to a Jack Payne double the second from the spot on 39 minutes.

But the carnage was far from over as MK would go in at the break ahead following a brace from winger Gboly Ariyibi, who grew up in Oxford.

The fun started again just after the hour mark when Rob Hall hammered home an equaliser, only for Ryan Seager to restore the lead two minutes later

United had presentable chances but that's the way it stayed and Stevenage's win over Brighton's academy side in the other Southern Group G match ensured the U's finished runners-up on goal difference to reach the second round.

The Yellows go into tomorrow's (Friday) draw knowing they will be away against the winners of group A, B, C or D unless they draw West Ham's academy side when the fixture will be at the Kassam.

Poor United limp out of FA Cup at early stage

Port Vale 2

Gavin Gunning 16 Tom Pope 53

Oxford United 0

Attendance: 3,443 (396 away)

OXFORD United endured a torrid evening as they limped out of the FA Cup at the first round stage for the first time in six years on Friday night.

The U's, who have enjoyed success against Premier League and Championship sides in the competition over the last couple of seasons, ran out of FA Cup magic as Port Vale made light of their lowly League Two position to ease to a 2-0 win.

Neil Aspin's team are 22nd in the fourth tier but, inspired by a run of three wins from their past four league games, put in a dominant performance.

Headers from Gavin Gunning and Tom Pope in either half did the damage for the Valiants who made their seventh goalkeeping change of the campaign.

A lethargic United, who reached the fifth round last season, failed to register a shot on target.

The visitors had most of the ball and the first chance of the evening, but there was no disguising a dreadful night in front of nearly 400 travelling U's fans.

Vale took the lead thanks to a costly mistake from Oxford keeper Simon Eastwood

U's keeper Simon Eastwood, pictured here against MK Dons earlier in the season, was not in his best form in the FA Cup

Trying to get his side on the move quickly, he bowled the ball straight to James Gibbons who surged forward and clipped a ball into the box for Gunning to nod home.

United's task became twice as hard early in the second half when a David Worrall cross found Pope who, doing what Pope does best, powered an unmarked header past the helpless Eastwood from six yards out

The home side should have added more and United can now focus on the league with one less distraction.

Pep's call to build on league position and keep winning

PEP Clotet has challenged his Oxford United side to string a positive run of results together as the U's search for consistency

United are in the play-off hunt but have lost their last three matches in all competitions, including defeats in the league, FA Cup and Checkatrade Trophy

Speaking after the 4-3 loss against MK Dons on Tuesday, Clotet said, "Despite not winning the game there were a lot of positive things, [although] we obviously made some mistakes

"We're lacking the good consistency that we need and now we've got to work very hard to get it

"It [the defensive performance and lack of consistency] was because it was a strange game – that was a [classic] cup game where anything can happen."

The Barcelona man added. "The game was too open, especially as we were too easy defensively we needed to make it more difficult for the opposition in those moments."

The U's host Northampton Town, who occupy the last relegation place, as they return to league action on Saturday

Clotet said: "It's important that we take a lot of things from this [defeat to MK] and build it up into Saturday

"We are in a very solid position in the league because of the good results in October and now we want to keep winning."

Manchester City women prove too tough for Oxford

OUFCW

OXFORD United Women were given a footballing lesson by a slick Manchester City Women side who ran out 6-0 winners in the FA WSL Continental Tyres Cup tie last week.

Setting out to stifle and frustrate their opponents the U's proved themselves capable of doing just that

That was until just before half time when a clumsy challenge in the box gave the WSL 1 powerhouse the opportunity to take the lead.

Issy Christiansen made no mistake in converting the spot kick and, straight from the restart, Georgia Stanway capitalised on loose possession to drive the half home and give City a 2-0 half time lead.

Oxford's best attacking opportunity came through an Ellie Noble half chance, sending a long-range shot just wide after a surging run

In the second half City, who boast England internationals Steph Houghton, Jill Scott and Nikita Parris in their team, pulled away as United's part timers tired against their superior opponents

Goals from Stanway Claire Emslie and two from Jen Beattie made the final scoreline 6-0 as the visitors finished their chances ruthlessly

The U's, who have lost both their Continental Tyres Cup matches, are back in league action when they travel to Millwall Lionesses on Sunday

City make history

Mark Jones's side reach second round of FA Cup

Oxford City celebrate after beating League Two side Colchester United to set up a tie with Notts County Picture: Mich... FA...

By George Welch

OXFORD City have been drawn away to Notts County in the Emirates FA Cup second round following the club's first win against a Football League side in their 135-year history

The tie at Meadow Lane home to Kevin Nolan's Sky Bet League Two leaders will be played between December 1 and 4

The Hoops made it through the first round by beating League Two Colchester United, who were on the wrong end of an FA Cup giant killing as City, despite riding their luck at times, returned from Essex with a 1-0 win

The part timers caused the upset thanks to a second half Matt Paterson header

City boss Mark Jones admitted he would have preferred a home tie but that it was still a positive draw

He said, "It's a fantastic tie. Notts County have lots of history and we've already got through against a League Two club so why not give it another go?

"It's obviously a really big test for us there but I think it's a good draw for us and one that we can look forward to.

"We were looking for a home draw but it is what it is and we will go there and give it our best."

Jones, whose side are struggling in the National League South relegation zone, added, "It's a good incentive for the players to make sure we perform well in the league over the next few weeks and I'm sure they'll all be wanting to get in the side when we play Notts County."

It is only the second time the club has reached the second round stage of the FA Cup

City's run, which has so far swept aside Whitehawk, Leiston and Bognor Regis Town, has netted the club £42,500 in prize money

Jones was full of praise for his giant killing team after knocking out their fourth opponent of the competition.

He said, "It was a great day for us and everything that we hoped would happen happened.

"Colchester had an off day and we played very well. It's tremendous for the club and these types of days don't come along very often."

But before he leads his side out against Notts County, Oxford face three pivotal league fixtures, starting with a trip to Chelmsford City on Saturday

'We need to be on our toes to win'

A DESPONDENT Pep Clotet admitted how bad he felt after his Oxford United side crashed out of the Emirates FA Cup at the first hurdle.

Friday night's terrible 2-0 defeat at Port Vale (see inside for report) was made even worse by the fact the hosts are only out of the League Two relegation zone on goal difference.

The United boss said, "It's very frustrating and I'm very disappointed. We feel really really bad at the moment."

The Spaniard suggested his players failed to match the energy and enthusiasm of their lower league opposition, despite putting out a strong team.

"We showed desire by putting a strong team on the pitch as I didn't make many changes," he said.

"For Port Vale, the fact they were playing Oxford, a team that is doing well in League One and plays good football that [helps] them give a little extra.

"We have to understand and make sure we match that by being very focused and brave.

"We need to be on our toes and perform 100 per cent to be able to win football games otherwise it doesn't matter if it's against a League Two or Championship side.

"Football nowadays is so even and the team who puts in the extra [effort] always have a better chance."

The U's last FA Cup first round exit was in 2011 and, over the last couple of seasons, have enjoyed the magic of the cup by beating Premier League and Championship teams in the process.
